Arjuna Award for Joshna

Joshna Chinappa receiving prestigious Arjuna Awards from President of India Shri Pranab Mukherjee

Suchde, Harinder Sandhu and myself have been doing on the international circuit. There have been some international events that have helped in bringing more recognition to the sport. Squash has grown a lot in Chennai, but needs to develop more in other parts of the country.

Joshna, was the first Indian girl to win the British Squash Championship in 2003 in the Under-19 category. She has never had a role model, she says, though she has always looked up to PT Usha. Her parents have been her main source of motivation and support. Her father, Anjan Chinappa, is a coffee planter from Coorg, and mother, Sunitha, a housewife who is very involved in helping with her travel schedules and lodging across the world. Her brother, Gaurav, is a doctor. And she dotes on her grandfather, PM Belliappa, who is a retired IAS officer and her grandmother, Leela Chinappa. Happy in the fact that she is blessed with a supportive family, Joshna likes her space.

Sport brings with it a spate of its own lessons, and for Joshna, injuries have only made her more aware of her body. "After I got injured and during recovery, I realised that the human body is amazing, given what it can achieve. I learnt not to take it for granted and to treat it with respect by taking care of my health, training hard, eating right and sleeping well," says this youngster. "The only thing I am passionate about is training. But I also like playing other sports, like badminton and tennis. I try and read sometimes," she adds.

ON THE HOT SEAT

- HER bucket list : Helping kids with their squash, buying my own house and travelling the world as a tourist.
- On my plate : I love South Indian food (rice and rasam) and sushi.
- A Magical moment : When people genuinely wish you well and are supportive of you, even when you've hit rock-bottom — that is special to me. There have been only a few people who have done that for me.
- On the route map : I love going to America and playing there. I find it very relaxed and I have lot of friends there.
- Notes from a champ : Work hard, be open to learning, and most importantly, make sure you study and get a degree from college, at the least.
- Style statement : I am quite casual about what I wear. I don't like making too much of an effort unless it's going to be important. I like mixing up my look with accessories.

What does the Arjuna award mean to you?

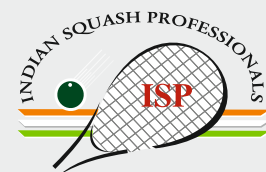

It means a lot to me. This is one of my biggest achievements. I have been recognised by the government and the feeling is special.

With you and Deepika Pallikal being the only two faces in Indian squash, what will it take for more of your kind to emerge?

Hopefully, there will be more kids taking up squash after us and pursuing it as a career. But for that, there has to be better structure to develop squash and reach out to all sections of people in different parts of the country. There is a need for good coaches, facilities, conducting tournaments all over the country and helping kids financially to play international as well as national tournaments.

How has the progress of you and Deepika changed the popularity of the sport in the past few years?

I think more people are aware of squash because of what Saurav Ghosal, Deepika Pallikal, Siddharth

Maharashtra State PSA Challenger 5 Men's Open 2013

Mazen Makes Egyptian Magic
in Mumbai at Bombay Gymkhana

Egypt's Mazen Hesham Ga Sabry edged out fellow countryman Zahed Mohamed in a 61-minute final thriller to win the Maharashtra State PSA Open, the new PSA World Tour Challenger 15 squash event at the Bombay Gymkhana in Mumbai, India.

It was unexpected climax between No4 seed Ga Sabry and unseeded Mohamed, the 21-year-old from Alexandria who claimed the scalps of both top seed Ong Beng Hee and third seed Mohd Ali Anwar Reda on his way to the final.

"After dropping the first game, Zahed comes out all guns blazing in 2nd game with some immaculate length and razor drops," explains event spokesman Raj Arora. "The consistency is super solid as he races through game two; It's 11-3 to Zahed and the capacity crowd is in for some more drama.

"In the 3rd game Zahed was controlling it beautifully and the young Mazen playing some gems of his own. After taking Mazen all over the court Zahed rips a blinder on the forehand and leads 7-4. Two beauties from Mazen followed by a lucky shot and the game hangs in the balance. Mazen ups it a bit and rather quickly he's reeled off another four straight points to take a 2-1 lead."

Zahed takes the fourth to force a decider - and builds up a 5-2 lead in the 5th game as he looks to claim his third upset. But world No 45 Mazen, the 19-year-old from Cairo reclaims the upper hand to survive the tense decider to win 11-5, 3-11, 11-7, 4-11, 11-8 after 61 minutes. "The crowd has been served some delectable fare," concluded Arora. "The juniors have certainly had many squash lessons all week. The Bombay Gymkhana has played host to some outstanding talents this week." The win marks the fifth PSA World Tour title of Mazen Hesham Ga Sabry's career - and his third this year!

Indian National Open Squash Championship 2013

Playing true to their reputation top seeds Saurav Ghoshal and Joshana Chinappa annexed the singles crown respectively in the men's and women's section of the 61st senior national Squash Championship at the Jaipur club courts.

The World number 17 and top seed in India, Ghoshal gave Mahesh Mangaonkar no chance at all and to post a facile 11-2, 11-1, 11-7 victory in about 30 minutes to win his record ninth national title and pocketed prize money of Rs. One lakh. Praising the youngster the seasoned Indian top seed Ghoshal said that the match was closer than what the score lines suggest. "It was not that easy. The scores suggests that it was one sided affair but Mahesh played quite well and showed his potential. I was trying out few things but he was also good," said the champion.

In the women's section Joshana had a cake walk victory over youngster Aprarajita Balmurukan to add 12th national Crown to her kitty which is already full of achievements at national, international levels along with recently being selected for Arjuna Awards. It was always going to be easy for Joshna as World Number 14 Deepika Pallikal and Anakka had kept away from the tournament due to personal reasons. Joshna who did not lose a set in her quest took about 30 minutes to dispose off the challenge of Aparajita 11-8, 11-9, 11-6. It was Aparajita who took the initial lead in first two games but Joshna did not have to exert to post an 11-8, 11-9, and 11-6.

"I was not complacent. I knew that with Dipika not here I would play against youngsters. Still I don't take things for granted. The Girls need more of exposure to come good at higher levels," said Joshana.

(Individual Event)

India and Malaysia claim their first Asian Youth Golds

17 year old Kush Kumar became the first Indian to win a Gold medal at the 2nd Asian Youth Games 2013 being held in Nanjing, China.

Kush started off well with an aggressive pace, but was being caught time and again by Shafeeq's delicate drops and some awesome deceptive play. However,

Kush managed to narrowly win the first. The second was an almost one sided affair with Syafiq putting the ball away at will. In the third, Kush was 8-3 down. He changed to a simple basic game at medium pace. One massive rally and Syafiq surrendered a few easy points and the game. Kush maintained the same medium paced basic game to take the 4th game and the Gold. The girls finals played first was between Hong Kong's Pansy Chan the 2nd seed and Malaysia's top seed Vanessa Raj. Vanessa won the first easily but let down by errors in the second. She played much better lengths to win the third and fourth games. Although Vanessa appeared tired she just about managed to secure the last two points and the gold medal for Malaysia.

World Games 2013

At Club Caniasgordas,
Cali, Colombia
(2-4 August 2013)

Nicol David & Gregory Gaultier Win World Games Gold

Five nations came away with Squash medals in the 9th staging of the World Games in the Colombian city of Cali, with Malaysia's world number one Nicol David striking gold for a record third time in a row in the women's championship and world No2 Gregory Gaultier claiming the first ever gold medal for France in the men's event. The World Games squash action - featuring 40 of the sport's leading men and women athletes, representing 20 member nations - took place at Club Caniasgordas, which boasts six glass back courts plus an all-glass show court. The supreme Nicol David reached the latest milestone in her illustrious squash career when she beat Dutch rival Natalie Grinham 11-6, 11-9, 11-8 in a repeat of the 2009 final in Kaohsiung, Chinese Taipei.

The 29-year-old from Penang, who has topped the world rankings unopposed since August 2006, not only celebrated her 13th World Games match win in a row since July 2005, when she won her maiden title in Germany, but her 13th without dropping a game!

The second final was certain to provide a new men's World Games champion - with Gaultier taking on surprise opponent Simon Rosner, the third seed who upset England's No2 seed Peter Barker in the semi-finals to become Germany's first ever finalist. Gaultier went into the match boasting a 10-0 career head-to-head record over his opponent, ranked 12 in the world.

"I'm so happy to contribute this gold to the total tally of medals to my country," said Gaultier afterwards - alluding to the bronze medal won earlier by compatriot Camille Serme after upsetting second-seeded Malaysian Low Wee Wern 11-8, 11-4, 11-4 in the women's play-off. "I'm so happy to win bronze for my country," said the very excited world No12 from Creteil.

Hammany stop Dessouki in the finals of Men's WSF World Junior Championship 2013

There was an upset in the men's final, an all-Egyptian affair - when No2 seed Karim Ayman El hammany beat favourite Fares Mohamed Dessouki in four games to keep the trophy in Egyptian hands for the eighth year in a row. The final brought together the event's top two seeds, with top-seeded Dessouki not only boasting a world ranking more than 200 places above his opponent, but a victory over El hammany in January's British Junior U19 Open en-route to winning the prestigious title. But, in a fittingly dramatic climax to the world individual championships in Wroclaw, underdog El hammany clinched the title 11-8, 11-6, 6-11, 13-11 after 83 minutes.

Victory over compatriot Mariam Ibrahim Metwally in the final of the World Squash Federation event at the Hasta La Vista Club in the historic city of Wroclaw in Poland sees the 17-year-old from Alexandria extend the previous women's double record set by the reigning world number one Nicol David in 2001, and the twin-title men's record established by Ramy Ashour - also the current world number one - in 2006.

Women's CIMB Malaysian Open 2013

at Petaling Jaya, Selangor, Malaysia
(12-15 September 2013)

Malaysian squash star Nicol David admitted today that it was 'a great feeling' to regain the Women's CIMB Malaysian Open title - avenging her final defeat last year by beating defending champion Raneem El Weleily to claim the trophy for the eighth time since 2005.

The world number one from Penang was celebrating her 11th successive appearance in the final - and was arguably more determined than ever before to secure her country's prized title after the shock 2012 victory by Egyptian El Weleily.
